			Gina K Thornburg	Thank you for placing this item on the agenda. Trains regularly crisscross the San Fernando Valley. An acquaintance of mine in the LAFD told me years ago that daily there are trains carrying hazardous materials. He actually moved away to reduce his risk of exposure should there be a derailment. I have long been concerned about the possibility of such a manmade disaster. And the topography of the San Fernando Valley may exacerbate the deleterious effects of hazardous chemicals' escaping into the air. Rimmed by high hills or mountains on all sides, with the Valley floor sloping north and south down to the LA River, the potential exists for vapors or gasses to circulate longer without being blown away. Thank you for initiating this inquiry. Please provide all required resources to ensure a thorough study of the potentiality of such a disaster and our county's capacity to safeguard human and animal life.
